Application Development and Integration

Trasys builds or modifies mission-critical applications to ensure reliable delivery of the services needed to compete in today's marketplace. In doing so, Trasys can provide services from discrete technical skills to full SDLC management.

Infrastructure Services

Trasys Infrastructure Service offerings include a full range of technology implementation and support services for our client's infrastructure and applications needs. Skills encompass design, implementation, support and operations for networks, servers, storage systems, security and desktops.

An Introduction to Trasys, Inc.

Trasys is a privately-held, woman-owned, technology-focused, consulting company providing innovative and practical solutions to mid-market and Fortune 500 companies.

Trasys' approach to working with our customers encompasses the need for talent acquisition in a dynamic and constantly challenging market. Our structure allows us to engage as a strategic partner with our customers, able to scale our services from provision of discrete technical skills on a temporary basis, to full ownership and execution of complex initiatives as well as candidate location for permanent placement, or temp-to perm positions as our customer's business demands dictate. We are dedicated to investing the time necessary to understanding our customer's business, environment and culture to ensure services are tailored to provide the highest immediate value for customers when engaging Trasy's services.

Our services are divided into three areas, full-cycle project delivery; temporary staffing and permanent placement solutions.

Project Services

Strategic Services

Strategic Services constitute a range of project delivery services for which Trasys has established industry-proven methods. These include project & program management, project health check and recovery services, technical assessment, packaged software evaluation and business process management solutions. Strategic Services consultants offer Trasy's customers the senior skills and depth of business experience necessary to assist in translating strategic business goals into fully integrated operational capabilities.

Businesses have to evolve to remain competitive and when that evolution requires that people and processes change, Trasys Strategic services are here to provide the specialized skill sets needed to assist an organization in planning, executing and realizing the benefits of change.

Application Development and Integration Services

Trasys creates or adapts custom software applications to streamline and optimize business solutions. From B2B and B2C web sites, to dedicated back-office application integration, Trasys consultants work with the latest development tools and standards to provide customers with state of the art applications and architectural components. For customers looking to extend the value of existing investments, Trasys also provides the skills necessary to integrate legacy host or customer-server systems with more modern service-based technologies.

Business Intelligence/Performance Management

Business intelligence and performance management are founded on the idea that operational business data, captured and analyzed over time can provide prescient and actionable management information. Trasys has expertise in the technologies and processes required to capture and process raw operational data into the scorecards, dashboards and trending reports that can guide business decisions more effectively and closer to real time than traditional trailing-indicators like quarterly sales and financial reports.

Infrastructure Services

Trasys Infrastructure Services offerings include a complete range of implementation, management and support services for technical infrastructure and applications, encompassing networks, servers, storage, security, disaster recovery and desktop management systems. Strategic Services further offers the ability to provide infrastructure assessment and recommendations to ensure that an organizations technical infrastructure is ready and able to meet the future needs of an organization.

Temporary Staffing Services

Trasys recognizes that the best service level comes from taking the time to truly understand a customer's needs. Trasys actively works with our customers to understand the exact skill set, experience, cultural fit and seniority requirements they require. Our engagement process is optimized by client to ensure that candidates are prequalified and shortlisted not only by demonstrable technical ability, but also by cultural fit and professional accomplishments.

With a large group of proven local resources and an active database of over 80,000 individual consultants, locally, nationally and internationally, Trasys can be relied upon to rapidly identify, qualify and provide skilled resources from mainstream to hard-to-find combinations of skills and experience.

Permanent Placement & Temp-To-Hire Services

The seniority and professional-services experience of the Trasys management team provides our customers with direct access to a deep network of talented individuals across a broad spectrum of experience and seniority.

Trasys permanent placement services were developed in response to the demands of our customers. We can structure either a traditional direct-hire candidate search, or work flexibly to provide temporary-to-permanent contracts where a customer wishes to evaluate how well an individual will fit within their organization before committing to a full time position.

With an emphasis on technical staff and technically-experienced business managers, Trasys identifies accomplished individuals who fit our customer's needs in seniority, skills, experience and style
